

Tailored Blood Testing Solutions

Although Physical Health Screens offer a comprehensive range of services designed to meet the healthcare needs of companies and individuals alike, sometimes a specialist screening is required. With so many diverse products used across industry sectors today, many companies find themselves needing to screen employees against the effects of materials used within their own processes.

In addition to the standard services provided by Physical Health Screens, we can provide tailored screening packages to meet your exact needs. Through our state of the art laboratory partner we are able to carry out any blood test required.

To discuss your options and to receive a personalised quotation, please contact a member of our sales staff.